SHIP TAVERN HISTORY

When prohibition was lifted in the early 1930's, Mr. L. K. Boettcher, whose family had recently acquired the Brown Palace Hotel, recognized the need for a place where people would enjoy their now legal libations. A second necessity, to provide a place of display for the splendid collection of sailing ship models he acquired on a visit to Cape Cod, was also on his mind. The ships had been purchased as a surprise for his wife, but they were not exactly her idea of appropriate décor for their home.

The two needs met, and the Ship Tavern was their offering. The Ship Tavern is more than a fine drinking place in a quality hotel. It is a small, specialized museum, the gift to a beloved city and its visitors by a man who loved the sea and the ships that sailed them as much as he did the mountains and the plains of his land-locked Colorado.
